

Highlight of July 14, 2007

The group worked individually and in commissions to respond to these questions: What are the two signs of life that we recognize in the reality presented to us this week? And, what must die to, so that new life can surface?

Sr. Lucy attaches one of the “signs of life” to the tree. All four of the commissions saw new life in this being “the time” of the Marianist Family in collaboration and the sense that it is “the time” of deepening in and realizing our charism of dynamic missionary spirit. (The hour has come!)
