

Highlight of July 15, 2007

On July 15, we made a pilgrimage to Assisi. The first stop was the Basilica of Mary of the Angels for Eucharist and to pray in the Portiuncula, the small church where St. Clare was consecrated to God and at the place where Francis died

At the Basilica of St. Francis, we took time to pray at the tomb of Francis before enjoying our picnic lunch. We also viewed the frescoes in the lower and upper church, and walked through the town to reach the Church of Saint Clare.

This year marks the 800th anniversary of the conversion of St. Francis.

The second photo shows some of our group walking back up the hill after visiting San Damiano, the small church rebuilt by Francis and where St. Clare and her companions lived. We prayed before the cross where when he received the message to “Rebuild my church.”

We renewed our energy for this week’s work.
